The Safeguarding Times

Summer 1

Editorial

Hello again to another Safeguarding Times. This half term, we have been very busy indeed. We had a visit from Mrs Scott, the Director Of Education for the Empower Trust and conducted a reminder of Pantosaurus for all the pupils.

Take a look!

Diversity Week

The week beginning 18th May was Diversity Week. In this week, we celebrated people who are diverse and deserve to be heard. There is diversity in families, culture and disabilities.

For example, diversity might be being fostered or adopted or having 2 dads or 2 mums or you might be disabled. You could celebrate your different traditions or different clothing from your religion as well as celebrating different festivals.

Everyone has different hobbies that they like such as: chess, card games, football, riding, gymnastics, climbing, running, cycling distance walking and camping.

Playground Buddies

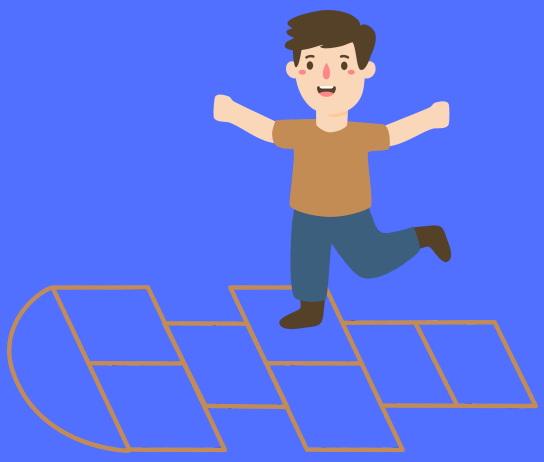

Mr Jones has appointed the Playground Buddies within school during lunchtimes and breaks. You may have a playground buddy in your classroom if you are in Year 5 or 6.

Playground buddies are there to help if you are feeling lonely, want someone to talk too or help with games. They wear sky blue high vis jackets so you can't miss them!

Top Safeguarding Tips: Field and Mile Track

1. Don’t throw grass- what did it do to you?!

2. Keep to the one way system. Moving helps you stay fit and healthy. Following the one way system, stops people from bumping into each other.

3. Keep the ground clear. Putting coats and equipment in the right place stops people from tripping over them and injuries.

Important reminders!

👥 At school stay where staff can see you, especially at break and lunchtime.
Remember to be ready, respectful, safe.
Be kind.
If something doesn't feel right, tell a teacher or another adult straight away.

💻 Online Safety
Never share personal information (like your address, school name, or passwords).
Be careful what you post – once it's online, it can be hard to remove.
Only talk to people you know in real life.
If something online upsets or worries you, tell a trusted adult immediately.

❤️ Your Feelings Matter
You have the right to feel safe and happy.
It's okay to say no if something makes you uncomfortable.
You will never get in trouble for speaking up.
Remember to use prosocial behaviours.

🗣️ Need Help?
Talk to: a teacher, a learning support assistant, the safeguarding team or a parent or carer
Remember: It's always better to tell someone
