Pyjamarama Day- Friday 12th June 2026

On Friday 12th June, St George's will spend the day reading, enjoying and sharing stories, all in the comfort of their pyjamas. We have taken part in Pyjamarama Day for several years now, and it is more than just a chance to come into school in PJs; it's all about sharing a love of reading.

Throughout the day, the children will take part in a range of creative activities linked to their favourite books. We want to show that reading is not simply homework to be completed; rather, it is about spending time together and enjoying books for pleasure.

We would also love you to share in this celebration of reading. If you would like to join us, we invite parents and carers to come into school at 2:45pm to share a story or a reading activity with your child in class. PJs are optional, but the children would love it!

If you would like to attend, please complete this Forms link below by Monday 1st June so that we know how many people to expect. Please note that this will be limited to one family member per child. We will open the pupil gates early, so that you can come straight into school. On arrival, please wait outside your child's classroom and teachers will let you in.

As this is the summer term, if it is too warm for pyjamas, children are welcome to wear shorts and a T-shirt instead. However, we kindly ask that all clothing is appropriate (no crop tops and shorts of a suitable length).

Bookflix has been extremely popular this year, allowing children to borrow a book of their choice, return it, and leave a review. They can also suggest new titles for us to consider purchasing.

We would appreciate any Bookflix books being returned before half term so that we can review our current stock and order new books. If you have any books you would like to donate to Bookflix, please bring them to the Lawley classroom.

Happy reading!

Yours faithfully,

M Kilty
